THE LIBRARY

The Albert Alphin Music Library houses a specialized collection of books, scores and periodicals for music, drama and dance, as well as a representative collection of college-level books in the liberal arts. To meet the needs of the faculty and students, the library has increased its holdings at the rate of over 3,000 books, scores and recordings each year.

The library's music collection includes both miniature study scores and non-circulating GESAMTAUSBAGEN of major composers, and a broad representation of minor and contemporary composers. In addition, there are scores for orchestra which include operas and ballets; chamber ensembles; concert band; stage band; choral works, solo instrumental and vocal works. There is also an extensive collection of libretti and piano-vocal scores and musical theater.

A noteworthy collection is the Jan Veen-Katrine Amory Hooper Memorial Collection containing many rare and foreign books on dance and art. Within this dance section is a special collection on the subject of dance notation. Represented here is the chronological development of the Sutton Movement Shorthand. Created by faculty member Valerie Sutton, it is an innovative system of movement notation for the dance, with a broad range of applicability in other areas such as working with the deaf.

The library also houses phonograph and audio-tape recordings of the classical and contemporary music repertoire from its earliest history to the present, and of the spoken word in drama and poetry. A special collection is the audio-tape library of all major Boston Conservatory of Music performances from 1966 to the present, as well as selected lecture-recitals and video tapings. The Music Education Laboratory contains an annex of books, music and non-print materials concerned with music insturction at the elementary and high school levels. The library's audio-visual equipment includes modern listening facilities, slide projectors, portable phonographs, reel-to-reel and cassette tape machines, a microfilm reader and video tape set and deck.

The library resources are supplemented by the wealth of academic and special libraries to be found in the greater Boston area. Visitor passes may be obtained and materials borrowed through the Inter-Library Loan System which also gives access to libraries across the nation. Situated in the heart of Boston, the library further supplements its resources with the historic collections of the famous Boston Public Library, easily available due to proximity.

Recent benefactors who have contributed to the library's growth are Dr. John E. Knight, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, the late Katrine Amory Hooper, the late Jan Veen, and the families of the late Francis Findlay, Alfred Mirovitch, Lee Hraba, Sybil Nute Garniss and Joan Katherine Rossi (BCM 1952). Other recent contributors have been Jeanne Beaman, Dr. Gardner Read, Dr. Paul H. Gottlieb, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gantshar, American Theatre Organ Society, and the Boston Classical Guitar Society.

During the academic year, library hours are:

Monday through Thursday	8 A.M.-10 P.M.
Friday	8 A.M.-5 P.M.
Saturday	10 A.M.-5 P.M.
Sunday	1:30 P.M.-5:30 P.M.

Closed during all school holidays.

Summer hours are:

Monday through Friday	9 A.M.-5 P.M.

Closed Saturdays and Sundays.

A handbook explaining procedures is available in the library. Materials circulate to Boston Conservatory of Music students, faculty, staff and alumni. Outside students may borrow only through inter-library loan. Guests are requested to make an appointment prior to visiting the library.

RESIDENCE

The Conservatory maintains residence halls near its classroom buildings, facing The Fenway. Each of these houses is supervised by its own director, and is notable for its homelike atmosphere and friendly cooperation. Meals are served in the Conservatory dining room where two meals are provided daily. "A la cart" lunches are available week days at nominal rates.

Room and board reservation should be made as soon as the student is notified of acceptance for admission. This reservation is secured by an advanced deposit of $100, which is applicable to the student's account, and not refundable. Upperclass students returning to the Conservatory may make dormitory reservations by submitting a nonrefundable deposit of $100 before March 15. In all cases, this reservation is held as binding for the school, and may not be broken except for an emergency which, in the judgment of the Administration, necessitates a student's withdrawal from the school.

PUBLIC PERFORMANCES

Throughout the year, the Conservatory maintains a full schedule of public recitals, concerts, and ensemble programs. In addition, the Theatre and Dance Departments present a variety of major productions and workshop performances. Faculty and guest artists appear frequently throughout the year. Regular attendance at these concerts and participation by qualified students is considered a vital part of the education at the Conservatory.

UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSION

Application for admission must be made on official Conservatory forms and submitted no later than April 15 prior to the Fall intended entrance date. All applicants are considered without regard to race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

For admission to a Degree Program, the applicant must be graduated from an accredited secondary school. College preparatory study should total a minimum of sixteen entrance units, distributed as follows:

English (4 years study)	4 units
Foreign Languages Mathematics Social Studies Science	8 units
Electives	4 units

In addition, applicants to a Degree Program must submit to the Admissions Office the scores of at least one national college entrance examination. The examinations are administered at secondary schools, or by direct arrangement with:

The College Entrance Examination Board
Eastern Office: Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey 08540
Western Office: Box 1025, Berkeley, California 94701
The American College Testing Program
PO Box 168
Iowa City, Iowa

Transfer students must also submit transcripts from post secondary schools attended plus a catalogue, together with a statement of release in good standing on a form available from the Conservatory. The maximum number of total credits which may be transferred from another institution is seventy-five. Those credits to be transferred will be done so at the discretion of the Academic Dean.

Transfer credit from accredited collegiate institutions in Applied Music, Music Theory, Applied Theatre, or Applied Dance is determined by examination on entrance to the Conservatory. Transfer grades from other colleges must be a C− or better. Transfer standing and length of residency will be determined by the Board of Admissions or the Graduate Division. This determination will normally be made during the first semester of residency.

The Conservatory participates in the program of Advanced Placement Examinations of the College Testing Service. Students who demonstrate satisfactory achievement through this testing program will be awarded academic credit and advanced standing.

Foreign students must submit results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language. Additional information may be obtained from the United States Embassies and Legations.

For admission to the Diploma Program, a high school diploma or its equivalent is required.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS MUSIC

For acceptance to a music major course, an applicant must demonstrate, by audition, his ability to pursue Conservatory level work. Proficiency levels for acceptance are as follows:

PIANO MAJOR. All applicants in piano (applied and concentrate) are required to take a piano audition. Pieces for the Audition must be memorized and the literature should include a Bach Invention, Prelude and Fugue, or an equivalent Baroque composition; a movement from a Sonata by Mozart, Haydn, or Beethoven; one larger composition from either the Romantic or Contemporary period. Proficiency in scales and arpeggios is presumed. A sight reading test is also given at the time of the audition.

ORGAN MAJOR. An applicant should be able to meet the requirements for entering Freshmen in Piano and demonstrate a comparable advancement in technique and repertoire on the organ.

VOICE MAJOR. An applicant should prepare four art songs for the audition—one in English, one in Italian, and the other two in German or French (an aria may be included). The applicant should also be able to sing with true intonation and developed tone quality. The ability to play piano is highly desirable.

STRING AND GUITAR MAJOR. An applicant should have acquired a reliable technical foundation through the study and performance of etudes, scales, and appropriate repertoire.

HARP MAJOR. An applicant should have acquired a reliable technical foundation and have performing proficiency in appropriate repertoire.

WIND MAJOR. An applicant should have acquired a reliable technical foundation through the study of etudes, scales, and repertoire appropriate to his/her instrument.

PERCUSSION MAJOR. An applicant should have acquired a reliable technical foundation for the playing of snare drum, emphasized in stick control through such materials as the George Stone Book, and Goldenberg, Cirone and Firth. In mallet responsibilities, basic music fundamentals are required in addition to sight-reading skills expressed by etudes. The following composers could represent additional repertoire: Bach, Handel, Corelli, Creston, and Basta. In timpani, fundamental mallet control through the beginning two drum studies, Saul Goodman Timpani Manual; tuning through solfeggio patterns.

MUSIC EDUCATION MAJOR

COMPOSITION MAJOR. Applicants to these programs must demonstrate proficiency on at least one instrument or voice. Ability to play the piano is highly desirable. In addition, the prospective composition student must evidence creative ability.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS THEATRE

Partipation in an acting class, as well as the presentation of prepared monologues and/or songs, is required of all applicants to the Department of Theatre. Applicants should allow at least three hours for the audition session, which will commence with warm-ups, exercises, and improvisations. Dress should be informal to allow freedom of movement.

All applicants must then present two contrasting monologues: one from contemporary drama, and one from the classic repertoire (pre-1800). Each selection should be at least two—but not more than three minutes in length. Monologues must be memorized and prepared thoroughly. Several speeches by one character may be blended—omitting other characters—to make a scene of sufficient length, or both parts of a two-character scene may be integrated. Audition materials should be selected to present the applicant's range and abilities.

Music Theatre applicants must, in addition to the above, be prepared to sing the following: (a) a light, rhythmic song such as "I Got a Lot of Living to Do" from Bye Bye Birdie; and (b) a ballad of sustained tone quality such as "If I Loved You" from Carousel. Applicants must bring their own sheet music; an accompanist will be provided.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS DANCE

Dance applicants must participate in two audition classes, one ballet and one modern. These auditions are to be announced. Applicants should bring to these auditions a recorded tape (7½ i.p.s.—mono) of two minutes duration, and be prepared to perform a two-minute individual dance solo in ballet or modern. This solo may be the student's own choreography or one prepared by a teacher. On acceptance to the program, the student has one year of probation. Continuation in the program is based on talent, intelligent cooperation and endurance.

EXAMINATIONS

SEMESTER EXAMINATIONS. All Students following the degree or diploma programs are required to take examinations in their courses at the end of each semester as scheduled.

APPLIED MUSIC EXAMINATIONS. All students seeking credit in applied music must perform at Concert Hour and before a faculty jury at the end of each semester. Students with an unsatisfactory attendance record (fewer than 13 lessons per semester) will not be admitted to this examination, and will be graded "failure".

CONCERT HOUR. Weekly concerts give the student an opportunity to perform before the faculty and fellow students. Individual critiques guide the student in developing professional confidence. Minimum requirements are as follows:

	Applied	Music Education and Composition
Freshman year	1 2nd semester	1 2nd semester
Sophomore year	1 per semester	1 per semester
Junior year	2 per semester	1 per semester
Senior year	2 per semester	1 per semester
Graduate Students (full-time)	2 per semester	2 per semester

PROMOTIONAL AUDITIONS. At the conclusion of the third semester of applied music or dance study, each student will be evaluated by the faculty for promotion. The faculty will vote to advance or detain the student as well as issue a jury grade.

GRADING SYSTEM

Letter Grade	Numerical Equivalent	Grade Quotient
A	95-100	4.000
A−	90-94	3.700
B+	87-89	3.300
B	83-86	3.000
B−	80-82	2.700
C+	77-79	2.300
C	73-76	2.000
C−	70-72	1.700
D	65-69	1.000
E	Below 65	1.000
I	Incomplete	None
W	Withdrawal	None
NC	No Credit	None

DEAN'S LIST. Students carrying 12 or more credit hours in any semester (diploma candidate, 10 credit hours) will be elected to the Dean's list if achieving a grade point average of 3.300, or will be placed on the Dean's list with Honors if achieving a grade point average of 3.600 (no grade below C−).

The grade Incomplete may be issued to permit the student additional time to complete course requirements or to take missed final examinations, only when the cause of the delay has been an authenticated illness or other emergency. An Incomplete issued at the end of the Fall semester must be completed before the end of the fifth week of the following Spring Semester. An Incomplete issued at the end of the Spring Semester must be completed before the end of the Summer Session. An Incomplete issued at the end of the Summer Session must be completed before the fifth week of the Fall Semester. Failure to comply with this schedule will cause the Incomplete to be recorded as an "E". An extension of the "Inc." is permissable by approval of the Academic Dean's Office.

Students may withdraw from individual courses after permission has been granted by the Academic Dean. A grade of "W" will be recorded for the course, which will not be figured into the Academic semester grade point average. No student shall be allowed to withdraw from any course after the thirteenth week of classes is completed.

ACADEMIC PROBATION. Students carrying a grade point average of 1.700 or below will be placed on academic probation for the semester. Significant improvement must be shown in following semesters, or dismissal will result at the Academic Dean's discretion.

SUMMER SESSION

Undergraduate and graduate courses in applied music, music history, theory, composition and music education are offered during the Summer Session. Summer Session programs in Drama and Dance are also available. Academic credit for Summer Session may be earned (1) if the student has previously matriculated at the Conservatory, (2) by transfer student acceptance for enrollment, or (3) by a guest student from another collegiate institution with written authorization from an appropriate official of the institution

EXTENSION PROGRAM

Private instruction in instruments, voice, composition, conducting and theory is available to those who may wish to pursue such studies during the day or early evening hours. Teachers must have 24 hours prior notice if student is unable to meet a lesson or class. Extension dance classes are also available. Academic credit is not available for extension studies.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

APPLIED MUSIC MAJORS must have studied a comprehensive repertoire of literature in their chosen field and must give solo recitals in the junior and senior years. Outstanding soloists may audition for performances with the orchestra or other instrumental combinations.

MUSIC EDUCATION MAJORS must have studied representative literature in their applied concentrate and must give a public recital in their senior year. This recital must be performed from memory by voice and piano concentrates.
Other instrumental concentrates must perform at least one major work or equivalent from memory.

COMPOSITION MAJORS must give evidence by examination that they have acquired proficiency in their applied concentrate and must present for approval a folio of original compositions (neatly written in ink) as follows:

1. not less than five works in smaller forms—piano pieces, songs and/or solos for orchestral instruments;
2. a composition in fugal form for string quartet, woodwind or brass ensemble;
3. an example of sonata-form for piano or for ensemble combination;
4. a composition of symphonic proportions or a work for chorus and orchestra (minimum duration 10 minutes). Two copies of this final work must be appropriately bound and presented to the Conservatory Library two weeks before graduation;
5. a senior recital of 30 minutes maximum is required, to be guided by the student's applied major teacher.

In addition to prescribed course work composition majors are both encouraged and expected to do creative works on their own. Concerts of student compositions are required.

All candidates for the undergraduate degrees and diplomas must provide evidence of successful completion of the prescribed curriculum. A student receiving grades below C— in more than twelve credit hours will not be permitted to graduate.

THE GRADUATE DIVISION

THE BOSTON CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC offers courses leading to the Master of Music degree in the fields of Applied Music (instrumental, vocal and opera performance), Composition and Music Education. The Graduate Division Program is open to those who hold the Bachelor of Music degree or other equivalent baccalaureate degree with a major in music from a school of recognized standing. Records of undergraduate studies presented for entrance must represent work equivalent in quality and content to that prescribed for similar degrees at the Boston Conservatory.

REQUIREMENTS: The minimum requirement for the master's degree is the completion of thirty-two semester hours, twenty-six of which must be earned in residence. A grade of B or better must be obtained in all subjects in the course. No applicant may assume that he/she may fulfill the requirements in one academic year, since much depends upon the undergraduate preparation, possible deficiencies to be removed, and the ability of the individual student. Applied majors, or music education candidates electing the recital option, are required to be registered and studying in the respective applied area for a minimum of four semesters, or the equivalent. All undergraduate prerequisite studies in the major field must be made up without graduate credit. A change of major from the undergraduate level will usually involve the fulfillment of prerequisites. All graduate programs, including elective subjects and changes of program, must be approved, and all degree requirements must be completed within five years from the date of matriculation.

Each candidate for the degree with a major in APPLIED MUSIC will be required to present a full length public recital demonstrating high artistic accomplishment. The program for this recital must be previewed before a faculty jury for approval before the date of the public recital is available from the Coordinator of the Graduate Division. Credit for the final semester of applied study will be issued upon successful completion of the public recital.

A candidate for the degree with a major in COMPOSITION is required to prepare a thesis. The thesis will be one of the following:

(a) An original composition scored for full orchestra and requiring not less than fifteen minutes in performance. The composition may be for chorus, solo voice, or an instrument, with orchestral accompaniment.

(b) An original composition for chamber orchestra requiring not less than fifteen minutes in performance.

(c) An original orchestral composition scored for full orchestra requiring not less than ten minutes in performance, and a shorter work for chorus or an instrumental combination requiring not less than five minutes in performance.

Two bound scores of the above must be presented to the Conservatory Library prior to the date of graduation. A candidate in this curriculum is required to elect a minimum of twelve credit hours in Composition subjects at the graduate level, and four credit hours of applied music study.

A candidate for the degree with a major in MUSIC EDUCATION may choose one of the following:

(a) The preparation of a thesis concerning an approved topic of interest and importance in the field of Music Education. Preparation of the thesis will be under the guidance of a faculty advisor. A completed typewritten copy of the thesis must be submitted to the Conservatory Library prior to graduation. In this program the candidate must elect Introduction to Graduate Study, Music Educaton 129 and 130 (Thesis), a minimum of 12 credit hours of Music Education elective, and a minimum of 4 credit hours of applied music study.

(b) The performance of a full length public recital demonstrating high artistic accomplishment. The program for this recital must be previewed before a faculty jury for approval before the date of the public recital will be announced. Specific requirements for the graduate level recital are available from the Coordinator of the Graduate Division. In this program the candidate must elect a minimum of 12 credit hours of Music Education electives, and 12 credit hours of applied music study. Credit for the final semester of applied music will be issued upon successful completion of the public recital.

ADMISSION: An applicant to the Graduate Divsion must comply with the following:

(a) File an application, on the form provided by the Conservatory with the Coordinator of the Graduate Division at least two months prior to the time of intended matriculation.

(b) Submit transcript(s) of all work completed for the undergraduate degree, and catalogue(s) describing course content.

(c) Submit scores of the aptitude portion of the Graduate Record Examination. These examinations are administered throughout the year. Information may be obtained from:

Educational Testing Service
Princeton, New Jersey 08540 or
Educational Testing Service
1947 Center Street
Berkeley, California 94704

(d) Foreign students must submit results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language. Additional information may be obtained from United States Embassies and Legations.

All applicants will be interviewed and auditioned by Boston Conservatory faculty. Accepted Graduate students will be examined in the areas of theory, ear training, and music history. These exams will be given during the week before the beginning of each semester.

Deficiencies, if any, will require prerequisite study, no credit. Prerequisites, if any, must be completed during the first two semesters of graduate study.

An oral comprehensive final examination will be administered by the Graduate Committee upon completion of course requirements. Full time graduate students are required to participate in rehearsals and performances of Conservatory Ensembles. Applied music majors must appear in scheduled public performances.

N.B. The Conservatory reserves the right to alter tuition and other fees at any time it may be deemed necessary.

DEFERRED PAYMENT

For students and parents desiring to pay education expenses in monthly installments, deferred payment programs are available through commercial educational loan agencies.

MEDICAL INSURANCE

The Conservatory has initiated a comprehensive but affordable insurance program designed to protect against unexpected and frequently heavy expenses. It also provides coverage for many out-of-pocket expenses such as hospital out-patient services and doctor's visits, and is available upon payment of a nominal annual fee.

TEXTBOOKS

The Conservatory maintains a small bookstore for the convenience of students in the purchase of textbooks and supplies. The cost of textbooks and supplies is estimated at between $100 and $300 per year.

FINANCIAL AID

The Conservatory participates in several aid programs, i.e. the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG), Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), College Work Study (CWS), and cooperates in the funding programs of the Social Security Administration, Veterans' Administration, and the various state higher education loan plans.

In addition, a limited number of performance-based scholarships are awarded to students demonstrating the highest artistic skills and who demonstrate financial need.

Other specific scholarship funds are:

REGULATIONS

ATTENDANCE. Regular attendance is essential to the successful completion of all Conservatory courses. Absence due to illness or other emergency may be excused if supported by a statement from a physician or other medical authority or if approved by the Academic Dean. Unexcused absences may not exceed the hour equivalent of the number of credit hours earned in the semester, i.e., in a three credit course, three hours of unexcused absence will be permitted. Excessive absence may result in the dismissal from the course with a failing grade. Course or class changes are not permitted after the second week of the semester.

Any member of a musical organization, dance, acting, and musical theatre course, or ensemble organization who fails to participate in a public performance will forfeit credit for the course.

Attendance at Commencement is compulsory for all graduating students. A penalty of $25 (in addition to the graduation fee) will be assessed any student who is absent, and the student must present himself at the Conservatory in person before his degree (diploma) will be released.

Private lessons missed due to unavoidable absence will be made up providing 24 hours notice has been given to the Conservatory office. Lessons are forfeited unless proper notice is given. All lessons that are made up must be completed during the current semester.

CHANGE OF PROGRAM. Changes of program may only be made with the approval of the Academic Dean. A student wishing to change his major or curriculum may petition the Dean, but the Administration reserves the right to deny any such petition. Any deficiencies or prerequisites which result from a change of program may lengthen the program of studies.

AUDITING. Matriculated students wishing to audit courses must receive approval from the Academic Dean. Students auditing courses may attend and participate in classes, but are not responsible for assignments or examinations and will receive neither grades nor credit. Full tuition is charged for courses audited.

CREDIT LOAD. A student is considered to be full-time at the undergraduate level if carrying 12 credit hours per semester (diploma curriculum, 10 credit hours). Graduate students are considered to be full-time if carrying 8 credit hours per semester. The allowable credit load in any semester is determined by the student's individual curricular requirements. Students wishing to elect additional courses must have the approval of the Academic Dean and will be charged additional tuition on a per course or credit hour basis. The credit load may not exceed 18 credit hours per semester.

REGISTRATION. Students are held responsible for all phases of the registration and pre-registration process. A Late Registration Fee of $25.00 will be charged for late registration.

FINANCIAL OBLIGATIONS. All tuition and fees are payable in accordance with the following schedule:

First Semester Charges	due August 15
Second Semester Charges	due January 1
Summer Session Charges	due at registration

Students failing to comply with this schedule will be excluded from classes.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

ACCOMPANYING

Accompanying 1, 2, 3, 4. A course in the study of the techniques of piano accompaniment for vocal and instrumental literature. Practical experience through work with student performers will be included

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

Keyboard Sight-Reading. To introduce the student to the concepts of style and interpretation as embodied in following selected repertoire for their course requirements. To further develop their visual, tactile and aural sense of stylistic patterns, inherent in the divergent literature of the mainstream of musical repertoire

Second Semester

One hour weekly credit, one hour per semester.

Piano I, II. An introduction to basic keyboard skills: basic hand and fingering patterns, sight-reading, harmonization using diatonic functions and transposition. Supportive piano literature is assigned on an individual basis.

Piano III, IV. A continuation of keyboard skills of Piano I, II with emphasis on sight-reading, harmonization (secondary and chromatic functions) and an introduction to score-reading (vocal and instrumental). Supportive piano literature is assigned on an individual basis.

APPLIED MUSIC

Applied Music. Intensive private study of the technique and repertoire of the student's principal instrument. Applied music requirements and levels are determined by the instructor and confirmed by the faculty jury through examination. Voice and instrumental applied music majors are assigned one hour, private lessons weekly; concentrates, one-half hour private lessons weekly. Students may elect additional instruction at extra cost.

GUITAR (Proposed)

Guitar Literature. This course will survey the important composers and style periods of the guitar from the Renaissance to the present day. Included will be discussion of performance practice along with critical analysis of modern editions. The students would be required to prepare a brief discussion of the life and works of a given composer and to write a critique of an edition of that composer's work.

One hour weekly credit, one hour per semester.
Required for Freshman or Sophomore year (offered alternate years.)

Research Techniques for Guitarists. This advanced course in research will acquaint the guitarist with the scholarly and musicological aspects of his profession. The course will include transcription of Renaissance and Baroque lute, vihuela, and guitar music from tablature into modern notation. The student would be required to research and prepare notes for his current program along with a project concerned with a specific aspect of the guitar. On the graduate level the student will conduct research (in collaboration with the instructor) the results of which should constitute a contribution to the existing knowledge in the field of guitar research.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.
Required for Junior or Seniors and Graduate students (offered alternate years).

Repertoire Performance Class. Each student would be required to give several solo performances during the semester. The performances would vary in length from one short piece to an entire recital program. These performances would be scheduled for the entire semester at the first class meeting. The performances would be formal, including: bowing, piece announcement, playing, bowing again. At the conclusion of the student's performance he would be asked to constructively criticize many different aspects of his presentation including deportment, technical problems, memorization, musicality, preparation, etc. Then the class and presiding faculty member would have the opportunity to discuss the performance.

Through performance and discussion, each student would:

1) Become more familiar with that repertoire which he has not yet played.

2) Improve his ability to perform in stressful situations.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.
Required for Junior and Seniors (Underclassmen would take the course on an Audit basis but would actively participate.)

ARRANGING

Arranging 1, 2. Contemporary techniques in professional arranging; melodic analysis, harmonization of melody, close and open voicing, instrumentation, idiomatic harmonic progressions, characteristics of sectional versus ensemble arranging.

Two hours weekly, credit, two hours per semester.

Arranging 105, 106. (Prerequisite: Arranging 1, 2 or Instrumentation 1, 2). Advanced arranging techniques.

Two hours weekly, credit, two hours per semester..

CHURCH MUSIC

Church Music 1, 2. Choir Training: methods of organization; rehearsal techniques; choral repertory; program building; various rituals, chant, pronunciation of church Latin.

One hour weekly, credit, two hours per semester.

Church Music 103, 104. (Prerequisite, Church Music 1, 2) Study and discussion of choral and instrumental literature of the church; new forms and media of expression; individual assignments according to the student's interest; discussion of administrative policies in the operation of a church music program.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Service Playing 1, 2 (103, 104). A study of the church service from the perspective of the organ console, the prelude, hymn playing and improvisation, conducting from the console, anthem accompanying

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

GRADUATE CREDIT:

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

History of Organ 1, 2 (103, 104). A study of the character and potential of the organ as a musical instrument through the important schools of organ building, i.e., The Early French Organ, The Organ of North Germany, The French Romantic and The American Classic Organ. Special emphasis on the relationship of the instrument to the literature of the period.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

GRADUATE CREDIT:

Two hours weekly; credit, one hour each semester.

Organ Literature. Representative works will be discussed and performed covering the French, Italian, Flemish, Spanish, German, English, and American organ composers from 1200 to the present.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

COMPOSITION

Composition 1, 2. The basic principles of composition are explored through projects in harmonically, melodically, and formally generated music in a variety of organizational techniques. Analysis of works in different styles leads to consideration of form. Works are composed for small groups of instruments.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Composition 3, 4. Techniques of variation and development are emphasized to encourage music generated from minimal materials. The students examine music of the twentieth century in a variety of styles, as well as works of previous eras. Performance of student compositions is required.

Two hours weekly, credit, two hours per semester.

Composition 5, 6. The student deals with issues of composition by means of a series of compositional exercises ranging from composition using a limited number of specific pitches to experiments in graphic and non-specific notation. Performance is required.

One hour private lesson weekly; credit, four hours per semester.

Composition 7, 8. Supervised composition of the Senior Thesis and continued work in techniques of the past, up to and including the 18th and 19th century styles.

One hour private lesson weekly; credit, four hours per semester.

Composition 109, 110, 111, 112. Private work with the student to develop the student's individual language leading to compositions for a variety of mediums and finally the Graduate Thesis.

One hour private lesson weekly; credit, four hours per semester.

CONDUCTING

Conducting 1, 2. The elementary technique of conducting applied to both choral and instrumental music. Principles of attack and release, setting and changing tempi, phrasing and interpretation; practice in score reading

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

Conducting 3, 4. Reading and analysis of more complex scores and more advanced baton technique.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

Conducting Workshop. (See Music Education 13.)

Conducting 105, 106. Advanced Instrumental Conducting. A course which investigates the more difficult problems confronting the instrumental conductor. Emphasis is given to orchestral procedures, performance practices, development of the orchestra, and instrumental requirements of major composrs. Prerequisite: Conducting 1, 2.

One private lesson weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Conducting 107, 108. Advanced Choral Conducting. A course designed to acquaint the student with techniques of vocal score analysis, extended repertoire, performance practices, and to investigate proper interpretation concepts of the various periods and styles of choral literature. Prerequisite: Conducting 1, 2.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

COUNTERPOINT

Counterpoint 1, 2. Species counterpoint in two parts; double counterpoint; inventions in two parts.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Counterpoint 3, 4. Free counterpoint in three and four parts, canon and fugue.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Counterpoint 5, 6. Advanced study in fugue, canon, passacaglia, application of contrapuntal forms to contemporary music
Private instruction; credit, two hours per semester.

Counterpoint 107, 108. Double and triple counterpoint, contemporary techniques, linear counterpoint, analysis of representative works
Private instruction; credit, two hours per semester.

Diction for Singers 1-4. A course designed to acquaint voice students with techniques of enunciation and projection, as well as accurate pronunciation, in Italian, French and German. A comparison of the sung and spoken languages, including a study of phonetics and the International Phonetic Alphabet
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

EAR TRAINING

Ear Training 1, 2. Review of the basic fundamentals of music; notation; clefs, scales, tonality, intervals, chords, ornamentation, terminology. Rhythmic articulation and sight-singing in treble and bass clefs. Rhythmic and melodic dictation. The system of stationary solfeggio syllables is used.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Ear Training 3, 4. Advanced studies in rhythmic singing, and sight-singing in alto and tenor clefs; harmonic dictation, in two, three, and four parts, and in changing meter.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Ear Training 5, 6. Continued ear training from 3, 4.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Advanced Ear Training. Advanced sight-singing in contemporary idioms; applied solfege in various ensembles; score reading; transposition; advanced dictation in contemporary styles.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Solfege 105, 106. An advanced course in sight-singing in all clefs; harmonic dictation, and transposition. Prerequisite: Ear Training 3, 4 or equivalent.
Private instruction; credit, two hours each semester.

FORM AND ANALYSIS

Form and Analysis 1, 2. Underlying principles of chord structure and harmonic rhythm as they effect form and content; non-harmonic and contrapuntal devices. In the first semester shorter forms will be studied from piano and vocal literature. In the second semester the larger forms, including Sonatas and Concertos, will be examined. Representative scores will be analyzed to illustrate various approaches to form, texture, and instrumentation and their bearing on performance.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Form and Analysis 3, 4. Advanced procedures.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Form and Analysis 103, 104. An advanced course for graduate students, comprising a detailed examination of scores in several media, for better understanding of individual composers' styles, and the main direction of musical development. The first semester comprises the later evolution of chromatic harmony to early Schoenberg, and the second semester explores other 20th century techniques of tonal organization.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

HARMONY

Harmony 1, 2. The Harmonic Style of the 18th and early 19th Centuries. Preliminary definitions; intervals; triads and their inversions; principles of chord progression; nonharmonic tones; harmonic rhythm; seventh chords and their inversions; modulation to related keys; secondary dominants; introduction to harmonic analysis; harmonization of given basses and melodies; keyboard harmony.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Harmony 3, 4. The Harmonic Style of the later 19th Century. Irregular resolutions: modulation to remote keys; the diminished seventh chords; 9th, 11th, and 13 chords, nondominant seventh chords; chromatically altered chords; exercises in vocal and instrumental style; analysis of Bach chorales and other literature; keyboard harmonization of basses and melodies.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Harmony 5, 6. The Harmonic Style of the Twentieth Century.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

Keyboard Harmony I, II. Applied keyboard skills for piano majors emphasizing harmonization (diatonic and chromatic functions), transposition, traditional figured-bass concepts and improvisation. Styles of harmonization extend from traditional accompaniment patterns to an introduction of contemporary 7th and 9th chords "lead-sheet" harmonization.

INSTRUMENTATION

Instrumentation 1, 2. A study of the nature of the various orchestral instruments. Scoring for orchestral combinations.
One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

Instrumentation 3, 4. Scoring for full orchestra and/or band, and for various instrumental combinations.
Two hours weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

Instrumentation 105, 106. A continuation of Instrumentation 3, 4, with emphasis on orchestration for the symphony orchestra. Analysis of the techniques employed by composers of the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries.
Private instruction, credit, two hours per semester.

MUSIC EDUCATION

Core I and II. Introduction to Music Education. An introduction to techniques for analy zing teaching methods and materials through school observations and videotapes of music classes. An investigation of the attitudinal and professional characteristics of the successful music teacher. A survey of the varied roles which the music specialist may fill in contemporary schools. An overview of instructional materials and media hardware utilized in music teaching. A second semester internship in an elementary general classroom in an area public school.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

Core III and IV. Media Methods for Music Instruction. A comprehensive overview of the instructional media hardware and software commonly used in music teaching. Experience with audio tape recorders, turntables, overhead and opaque projectors, electronic synthesizers, videotape equipment, duplicating machines, film projectors, slide projectors, filmstrip projectors, and graphic production. An emphasis on teacher-made instructional materials. Field internships in area secondary schools, special education settings, or inner city schools.

One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester
Prerequisite: Core I, II.

Core V. Music in the Elementary School. An introduction to the procedures and materials for teaching music to children in grades Kindergarten through Six. Development of skills in analyzing teaching materials, setting instructional goals and objectives, and writing lesson plans designed to assist the child in becoming a musically sensitive person. Introduction to the Orff, Kodaly, Dalcroze, Manhattanville, Carabo-Cone, Konowitz, and Conceptual Approaches. A field internship in an area elementary school with an emphasis on presentation of a weekly music lesson.

Three hours weekly; first semester credit, three hours.
Prerequisite: Core I, II, III, IV.

Core VI. Music in the Secondary School. Methods and materials pertinent to the education of junior and senior high school students. Exposure to content areas, audio-visual aides, discipline approaches, teaching strategies, classroom organization, lesson organization, and instructional presentation necessary for the secondary school classroom. A field internship in an area junior or senior high school.
Three hours weekly; second semester, credit, three hours.
Prerequisite: Core I, II, III, IV, V.

Core VII. Senior Seminar. Practice in preparation of the professional resume. Experiences in classroom management and discipline techniques. An introduction to educatonal tests and measurements. Six weekly observations in area school systems and six weeks of internship in the school system selected for student teaching.
One hour weekly; credit, one hour first semester
Prerequisite: Core I, II, III, IV, V, VI.

Core VIII. Student Teaching. Grants ten hours of credit and consists of two major components:

Senior Seminar. Introduction to communication and public relations techniques for music teachers. Role-played practice in job interviewing. Preparation for state teachers certification. In-depth case study discussions and analyses of situations encountered in student teaching.
One hour weekly; credit, one hour second semester
Prerequisite: Core I, II, III, IV, V, VI VII.

Student Teaching Practicum. The senior selects a major and minor area of concentra- from the following:

Elementary School Instruction: Grades K-9
Secondary School Instruction: Grades 5-12

Six weeks (150 hours) of full-time student teaching in minor area and twelve weeks (300 hours) of full-time student teaching under public school master teachers with supervision by Conservatory personnel, resulting in state teacher certification for music teaching in grades K-12.
Credit: Minor area, three hours
Major area, six hours Second semester only
Prerequisite: Approval of Music Education Faculty
Core I, II, III, IV, V, VI, VII.

M.E. 9. Curriculum Development and Research. Exposure to contemporary teaching strategies, organizational considerations, components of curriculum design, current curricular designs and materials. Course will culminate with a student-composed curriculum design.
Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester
Prerequisite: Core I, II, III, IV, V, VI.

M.E. 10 Introduction to Instrumental Methods. A beginning study in methods and materials available to the instrumental music director in the public school; classification of instruments and brief survey of timbres, construction, characteristics and limitations in school use; emphasis on elementary and middle school instrumental class methods. Students will perform a variety of elementary and middle school level music on their secondary instruments (clarinet or trumpet). Seniors involved in M.E. 11 will be expected to conduct this ensemble from time to time.
One hour weekly; credit, one hour per semester.

M.E. 11 Instrumental methods. A continuing study of the methods and materials available to the instrumental music director in the public school; tuning, fundamental techniques, playing and care of instruments; homogeneous and hetrogeneous combinations, utilizing various methods of class instruction. Emphasis on large ensembles: concert and marching bands, orchestra, and jazz ensemble.
One hour weekly, credit, one hour per semester.

M.E. 12 Choral Methods. A study of the organization of the various types of choral ensembles within the school music program; investigation of the voice physiologically and as an instrument; audition techniques, voice testing and part placement, choral techniques, including tone production, intonaton, balance blend, and diction; examination of materials suitable for all levels; stylistic implication in interpretation

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

M.E. 13 Conducting Workshop. Devoted to the reading and performance of instrumental and vocal materials at various school levels; intensive study in score reading, instrumental transposition, musical terminology and applied solfege; occasional work with the basic instrumental methods class.

Four hours weekly; credit, four hours per semester.

Music Education.

M.E. 14 Voice Class M.E. 17 Woodwind Class
M.E. 15 Guitar Class M.E. 18 Brass Class
M.E. 16 String Class M.E. 19 Percussion Class
M.E. 20 Basic Clarinet Class or Basic Trumpet Class

The study of the basic skills of tone production and technical development with emphasis on pedagogical considerations.

One hour weekly; credit, one per hour semester.

M.E. 21-22 Instrumental and Vocal Arranging. Arranging for numerous instrumental combinations including Pep Band, Concert Band, Stage Band. Arranging for choral combination SATB. (Emphasis on current demands required of music directors in the classroom). Development of arranging skills from piano lead sheets and piano arrangements.

Two hours weekly, credit, two hours per semester
Prerequisite: Harmony I.

M.E. 120 Introduction to Graduate Study. A survey of methods and sources for research; formulation of bibliography; development of formal writing style, elementary statistical treatment of data; intensive and extensive study in one area of the individual student's field of interest, culminating in a project employing research techiques, as approved by the student's major advisor.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

M.E. 121 Administration of Music Education. An investigation of the personal, technical, sociological, and educational aspects of music administration, with emphasis on the importance of the administrator in the overall picture of the school music program. Evaluative techniques as they relate to program and staff, and application of principles of successful administrative processes.

Three hours weekly; credit, three hours per semester.

M.E. 122 Curriculum Concepts in Music Education. Experience in the formation of goals and objectives and their use in planning; analysis of the role of music education in relation to the individual, the school, and the community; an investigation of techniques geared to the changing needs of education.

Three hours weekly; credit, three hours per semester.

M.E. 123-124 Advanced Choral Methods. A course designed to acquaint the student with choral techniques; intensive study of the vocal instrument; procedures for group implementation of tone placement development, intonation, ensemble balance and blend, and diction; an investigation of the psychological aspects of choral singing.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours each semester.

M.E. 125-126 Instrumental Music Education. A study of the methods and materials of instrumental music in the schools. Special emphasis on the organization and administration of the instrumental music program; the development of secondary school bands and orchestras; repertoire and rehearsal techniques.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

M.E. 127-128 Seminar in Music Education. A discussion and analysis on the problems of developing a modern philosophy and method for teaching in the public schools. Seminar topics are chosen according to needs and interests.

Three hours weekly; credit, three hours per semester.

M.E. 129-130 Methods of Research. Introduction to bibliography and source materials for research in Music Education; selection, outlines and supervised completion of thesis subject.

Private, one hour weekly; credit, three hours per semester.
Prerequisite: Introduction to Graduate Study.

M.E. 131-132 Musical Theater Production. Theory and practice of musical theater production; repertoire, sources of materials, evaluation of production resources, criteria for selection of book and score, royalties and production rights, cost budgeting; production design and departmental organizaton, coordination of departments of musical direction, stage direction, choreography and technical direction, theory and methods of casting and rehearsal procedure; practice through participation in musical workshop production.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester.

MUSIC FUNDAMENTALS

Music Fundamentals 1, 2. A study of the fundamentals of music; notation, music theory rhythmic and melodic dictation and analysis.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours per semester

MUSIC HISTORY AND LITERATURE

The undergraduate Music History and Literature program is designed for the scholarly performer. The content of each course is based on a sequential overview of a particular historical period, each concentrating on pertinent reading and listening assignments. The basis for the readings is Donald Jay Grout, A History of Western Music, writings by and about composers and theoretical and aesthetic treatises. The goal of the program is to familiarize each student with the composer, his music, and the context in which they are found.

The requirements for Undergraduate Music History and Literature, although necessitating only four courses (a total of four semesters, eight credit hours), may be supplemented by Music Theory/History Electives. A student should take one course from Group A, one from Group B, and one from Group C, plus one additional course from any of the above groups to fulfill the core requirements. If the student elects two semesters of history for the Music Theory/History Elective, he may take the remaining two course offerings. If he elects one semester only of history plus one of theory, he should take the theory in the first semester and history in the second, due to the sequential nature of theory offerings and their prerequisite requirements.

GROUP A

Music History and Literature I. Medieval, 900-1450. A survey of early monophony, the beginnings of polyphony, to the Netherlands school.

Music History and Literature II. Renaissance, 1450-1600. A survey of music from the Netherlands composers to the Florentine Camerata.

GROUP B

Music History and Literature III. Baroque, 1600-1750. A survey of music from the Florentine Camerata to the death of J.S. Bach.

Music History and Literature IV. Classic, 1750-1800. A survey of music from the death of J.S. Bach to the early/middle period of Ludwig Van Beethoven

GROUP C

Music History and Literature V. Romantic, 19th Century. A survey of music from late Beethoven to Wagner.

Music History and Literature VI. 20th Centure. A survey of music from Wagner to Contemporary trends.

OTHER LITERATURE COURSES

Piano Literature 1-2. A survey of masterworks for the piano through live and recorded performances, stressing editions, composers' intentions, and interpretation. One hour weekly, credit, one hour each semester.

Vocal Literature 1-2. Reading and study of representative literature of the English, Italian, French and German masters of all periods. Two hours weekly, credit, two hours each semester.

Organ Literature. Representative works will be discussed and performed covering the French, Italian, Flemish, Spanish, German, English and American Organ Composers from 1200 to the present. One hour weekly, credit, one hour each semester.

GRADUATE MUSIC HISTORY AND LITERATURE

The Graduate Music History and Literature sequence consists of the study of composers and compositions through lecture, research, listening, performances and analysis. Each student will finalize the semester with a research project consisting of a bibliography, paper, or presentation.

Music History and Literature 101. Music of the Medieval Period, 900-1450. The transition from monody to polyphony and the resultant systems of rhythmic and pitch notation are of principle concern in this course. Beginning with the appearance and growth of the chief branches of Christian Chant, one will discuss secular monody, organum, motets of the Ars Antiqua and continue with French, Italian, and Spanish music of the Ars Nova, finalizing the course with British music of the early 15th century to the death of Dunstable. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 102. Music of the Renaissance, 1450-1600. Beginning with the Burgundian school of Dufay and Binchois, through the Netherland tradition of Obrecht and Ockeghem and its subsequent influence on later generations of Italian composers, this course will concentrate on sacred and secular genres that culminate in the compositions of Josquin des Prez and his contemporaries. From the Nationalist tendencies of the post-Josquin generation, one will discuss Reformation and the variety of reactions: Palestrina, Victoria, Gesualdo. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 103. Music of the Baroque, 1600-1750. Prima and Seconda Prattica, Florentine Camerata, and Orfeo serve as the foundation for an overview of form, genre, and national style in this period. Through composers such as Monteverdi, Frescobaldi, Alessandro Scarlatti, Lully, and Corelli, one will follow the development of opera, sonata, suite and concerto to 1700. Having this basis, one will determine how the late-Baroque composers such as Handel, Telemann, D. Scarlatti, Rameau, Vivaldi, and Bach treated these genres. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 104. Music of the Classic Period, 1730-1820. Through Gluck, Rameau, the sons of J.S. Bach, and Stamitz, one will explore style galant and Empfindsamer Stil and the variety of meanings for Classicism. The string quartet, symphony, concerto, opera and sacred music of Haydn, Mozart, and Beethoven—style and content, will be the focus for the later part of the course. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 105. Music of the Romantic Period, 1820-1900. After defining Romanticism as a concept, the focus of this course will be the expansion of form and content of a particular composer and his implied or explicit relationship to the precepts of this period. After discussing Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Mendelssohn, and Brahms, Chopin, Liszt, Berlioz, and Wagner, one will concentrate on Nationalism and related post-1850 composers and compositions. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 106. Music of the 20th Century, 1900-present. Radical innovation, through Debussy, Ives, Stravinsky, Bartok, Schoenberg, and Webern, is the focal point for this course. One will examine, through analysis and listening, representative compositions of the above composers and their contemporaries. Emphasis will be placed upon writings and analyses by musicians and composers concerning problems and solutions of contemporary music. Three hours weekly*

GRADUATE ELECTIVES

Music History and Literature 107. History and Literature of The Opera I. A survey of the beginnings of the Florentine Camerata, Venetian, and Neapolitan opera to works of W.A. Mozart, and Haydn. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 108. History and Literature of The Opera II. Continuing with French Grand Opera through the Italin school to Wagner and finalizing with various contemporary trends. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 109. Music and the Dance, 1500-1900. The objective of this course is to familiarize the student with the relationship of movement to music through the exploration of treatises on dance and a voluminous quantity of dance music found in all genres of Western-European music. Emphasis will be placed on knowledge of dance rhythms, ability to read a variety of choreographic notations, and the ability to integrate these elements.

*Prerequisite: Any Elementary Movement. Three hours weekly

Music History and Literature 110. Graduate Research Seminar. A survey of methods and sources for research, formulation of bibliography, development of formal writing style, intensive and extensive study in one area of the individual student's field of interest, culminating in a project employing research techniques. Three hours weekly*

Music History and Literature 111. Keyboard Continuo Technique. This expansive course for pianists, organists, and harpsichordists could serve as an introduction to stylistic performance practice on the harpsichord and organ of pre-1800 repertoire. The course will treat basic construction of a variety of early keyboard instruments, examine writings of C.P.E. Bach, Rameau, and Quantz; learn and practice the most widely-used figured bass notation, and finally, apply this knowledge to practical performance situation.

*Prerequisite: Baroque Music Literature. Three hours weekly

Music History and Literature 112. Performance Seminar in Early Music. Through the exploration of treatises on performance practice, writings of and about composers, live performance, recordings, and discussion, one will explore various rules and possibilities in the performance of music written before 1800.

*Prerequisites: Undergraduate Sequence of pre-1800 Music Literature and History Courses. Three hours weekly.

*One hour instruction = one credit hour

OPERA THEATRE

The Boston Conservatory of Music offers a multi-level program of training in opera. Entrance to each of the various levels is by audition and is highly competitive. Instruction is given by professionals experienced in the operatic field.

On the Undergraduate level, voice majors nearing the end of Sophomore year may elect to audition for admission to the course leading to the degree Bachelor of Music in Opera Preparation. Entrance to this program will be limited to a small number of candidates.

The Boston Conservatory course leading to the Artist Diploma in Opera is conceived as a comprehensive opera training program. Its purpose is to prepare singers in the various skills needed by present day opera performers. The course of study follows guidelines set forth by the National Opera Institute. Entrance to this program is by audition and is limited to a small number of students.

Students meeting the entrance requirements outlined on page 17 of this catalogue may apply for admission to the course leading to the degree Master of Music in Opera.

PEDAGOGY

This work gives the advanced student a background in the principles and practice of music teaching. Discussion of methods and materials is followed by guided laboratory work with both class and private students.

Piano Pedagogy1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester
Voice Pedagogy 1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester
String Pedagogy 1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester
Woodwind Pedagogy 1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester
Brass Pedagogy 1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester
Guitar Pedagogy 1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester
Percussion Pedagogy 1-2	1 hour weekly; credit, 1 hour each semester

Vocal Pedagogy 105-106. Research on study and training materials, analysis and categorization of live and recorded voices, unusual materials for teaching and repertoire building; aspects of interpretation; in-depth discussion of the art and science of teaching voice from various approaches; salient points of comparison of the empirical bel canto, the mechanistic, scientific and the numerous controversial methods; vocal disorders, causes and remedial measures; physical, artistic and psychological requisites for a successful music career; clinical workshop teaching and analysis.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours each semester.

VOCAL COACHING

Vocal Coaching 1-2 (105-106 Graduate Level). Individual instruction in the phrasing, diction, interpretation and styles of the various periods of the compositions in the general repertory. Collaboration with the applied music teacher in the choice and preparation of the selections for the required recitals. One-half hour weekly; 2 credits per semester, Graduate and Undergraduate.

VOICE THERAPY

Voice Therapy 1-2 (105-106, Graduate level). A thorough study of the anatomy and physiology of the larynx and respiratory organs and musculature by means of lectures, slides, and motion pictures; a study of the various pathologies involved in the throat, problems curable or aided by voice-therapy. Exercises, general and specific, for handling these problems. In some cases actual patients may be brought in for purposes of demonstration before the class.

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours each semester.

Voice Therapy 3-4 (107-108, Graduate level). The second year is devoted to clinical internship in connection with local medical institutions where students work with patients and become acquainted with all the problems, physical and psychological, encountered by the voice-therapist. This clinical experience consists of one session per week of two hours' duration, plus a symposium. All progress is noted by periodic tape-recordings of the patients' voices. (Prerequisite: Voice Therapy 1-2).

Two hours weekly; credit, two hours each semester.

Psychology of Personality: An approach to Human Growth and Development. This course will include theories and methods of human understanding, interviewing skills, and development of the professional self.

2 cr, 2 semester, 1 meeting weekly—David Blair McClosky

THEATER DEPARTMENT

Glenne Bruce, Chairman

The Theater and Music Theater curricula are designed to provide comprehensive training for the actor and the actor-singer, respectively. Acting, speech and movement form the basis of both programs, to which the Music Theater program adds concentration in voice, and classes in music theatre. Integral to the course work is a schedule of major productions and workshops which aim at providing immediate and continuous performance experience to test and stretch the developing performer. Required academic studies further enhance the program by creating a context for understanding the Theater's contributions to Man's cultural life. Finally, supervised experiences in directing and technical production complete the program, allowing the student personal contact with the total theater experience.

The department has member affiliation with The New England Theater Conference, American National Theater and Academy, the American Theater Association and the University and College Theater Association.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Acting 1-2. An introduction to acting: development of an active, truthful and disciplined approach to the work of the actor, with a focus on organic, inner technique. DANCE DEPARTMENT

Robert Gilman, Acting Chairman
Ruth Sandholm Ambrose, Artistic Advisor

The professional dance course at the Boston Conservatory of Music is an integrated program of Ballet, Modern, Jazz, and Ethnic techniques. Pedagogy and choreographic elements develop through the four years with more complexity as the student develops. A high standard of training is acquired from the professional faculty giving a strong mastery of the techniques. The student has many opportunities to perform through choreographic workshop programs, musicals, community programs, and with the Boston Dance Theater. Emphasis is on the performing professional dancer who can then teach or choreograph, with constant guidance by the faculty toward a major concentration.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

DANCE TECHNIQUE

Technique 1-2. Modern: Study of relaxation and tension; analysis of body functioning, limbering, stretching; coordination; correctives for posture and weight distribution; technique of breathing. Ballet: The five positions; simple barre work; fundamental steps. SENIOR DANCE PROJECT

Senior Project. Choice of subject matter in Dance that is explored during the year and can be accomplished in either first or second semester.

EXTENSION CLASSES

The department also conducts extension classes for adults, young people and children, designed to give pleasure, health and recreation. The work includes foundation technique, relaxation, correctives for posture and breathing, resilience, weight distribution, dance technique. With children and young people additional emphasis is placed on poise, the rudiments of the classic ballet, dramatic expression and creative studies.

DANCE NOTATION

Movement Writing Fundamentals 1-2. Students will become proficient in reading and writing Sutton Dance Writing, and will develop the ability to read all movement notation fluently. Students will analyze movement, acquire practical knowledge of dance terminology, dance placement and the interaction of dance and music. The Center for Sutton Movement Writing, located one block from the Conservatory, offers students teacher's certification in Dance Writing and job opportunities as a dance notator. The Center also keeps the dance majors in touch with the inventor of the system, Valerie Sutton, and supplies the students with a library of books and notated dances.

Two hours weekly; credit, one hour each semester.

Movement Writing, Basic Teacher Certification. There are three levels of teacher certification in Sutton Movement Writing—the Basic, the Advanced and the Professional certificates. The student training for the Basic Certificate must have first completed the Movement Writing Fundamentals course above. No other course is required although it would be preferred that all the above courses would be part of the student's training. A five hour teacher certification examination is administered at the completion of the course.

Two hours weekly, one semester. Elective, no credit.

ACADEMIC STUDIES

Exposition I, II. A concentration on those competencies the student will need to successfully complete Degree requirements. These include study and reading skills, proficiency in grammar, spelling, and punctuation; thesis and outline organization, annotation, precis, letter and resume development, and research and composition techniques.
Three credit hours per semester.
Required of all first year degree students.

Western Art and Life I, II. A survey of Western culture through its arts. An emphasis is given to influential periods in our cultural heritage. Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Classic, Romantic, and Modern. Each period is analyzed from its philosophic, socio-political, religious, esthetic, and literary perspectives.
Three credit hours per semester.

Esthetics. A comprehensive inquiry into the meaning of arts, esthetic values, and creative processes. Field trips to performances, exhibits, studios, and museums provide an experiential basis for critically analyzing the form, content, and functions of art. Readings from Plato, Aristotle, Augustine, Kant, Heidigger, Dewey, Maritain, Prall, and Tulku are brief but enlightening.
Three credit hours.

Myths, Past and Present. A comparative study of creation, authority, love, war, and death in Judeo-Christian, Greco-Roman, Norse, Chinese, Hindu, African, and American Indian mythologies, and the relationship of these to contemporary concepts of reality. Includes an emphasis on the direction and process of modern myth-making.
Three credit hours.

Literature of the Abyss. An introduction to those works by Dostoevsky, Conrad, Melville, Kafka, Mann, and Camus which catch the chaos between the disintegration of old values and the formation of the modern age. The course will also deal with how to read such works; students will learn about the methods of symbolization used by each author.
Three credit hours.

Drama for Non-majors. A selection of important works of dramatic literature for students who are not majoring in Theatre. The readings, taken from four different historical periods, will include plays by Sophocles, Aeschylus, Marlow, Shakespeare, Ibsen, Chekov, Pinter, Beckett, and O'Neill. Class discussions will focus on the differences in the plays' dramatization techniques, as well as in their world view.
Three credit hours.

Four Women in Search of a Genre. A critical look at selected works of four major British writers: Austen, Eliot, Emily Bronte, and Wolfe. Focus will be on the development of the novel as an art form, and on the contemporaneity of issues that led to the current women's revolt and to the renascence of interest in woman as artist.
Three credit hours.

Dublin: A Place in Fiction. A study of how important Ireland as a place has been to the art of Joyce, Yeats, Shaw, Synge, and O'Casey. The course will introduce the history, folk tales, music, and lyrical language shared by the people in the pubs and on the street with the characters who inhabit the works of these Irish writers.
Three credit hours.

The Jazz Age. A focus on one decade—from 1919 to 1929—for an understanding of how its social, political, and artistic revolutions relate to the present. Influential characters to be studied in this informal history include F. Scott Fitzgerald, Louis Armstrong, Ernest Hemingway, and Clarence Darrow.
Three credit hours.

Writing Workshop. Development of ideas, language, creativity, and style. All sections include selected model readings, constructive analysis of students' writing, and an introduction to publishing possibilities.
Section A. Poetry
Section B. The Short Story
Section C. Essays, Reviews, and Articles
Section D. Writing for Children
Each section, three credit hours.

Philosophy of Education. An exploration of the philosophic foundations (nature of reality, knowledge, and values) that underlie educational objectives, curricula, and methodology. Students are introduced to alternative philosophic systems, current educational issues and innovations, and the history of education. The formulation of student's own philosophy of education is a principal aim of the course.
Three credit hours.

Italian, French or German 1-2. Rudiments of grammar and diction; readings of prose and poetry; oral and written translation; practice in speaking and writing.
Three credit hours each semester.

Italian, French or German 3-4. Grammar and compostion continued; more difficult readings; free composition and special practice in conversation.
Three credit hours each semester.

Psychology 1. General Psychology. An introduction to the scope of psychology and the nature of its methods. Focus on the individual; his perceptions, emotions, drives, and social functioning. Reaction to conflict, mental hygiene and maladjustment are discussed. Assigned readings and reports.
Three credit hours. Offered Fall.

Psychology 1. Psychology of Group Counseling. This course is designed to help the student understand and recognize the dynamics of the therapeutic forces within a counseling group, to increase the chances of facilitating changes in behavior and to assist others while they obtain assistance for themselves. Analysis of the historical development of group treatment methods, theories, practices, methods for appraising outcomes of treatment, and research findings are also to be discussed.
Three credit hours. Offered Spring.

Psychology 3. Educational Psychology. This course embraces both child and adolescent psychology, the socialization of children, the principles of learning as they affect child behavior; motivation and maturation in learning; the classroom environment and problems of the teacher at work.
Three credit hours. Offered Spring.

Kinesiology and Applied Anatomy 1-2. A study of the major joints of the body and muscle location and action in their relationship to movement; study of the structure of organs and individual systems and their function in the whole organism; studies to improve dance technique and prevent injury. Required of all Dance Majors.
Two credit hours each semester.
